Speed Law's Fate Debated

House, Senate Differ Much On Contents of Such an Act

JEFFERSON CITY (A)—The future of a Missouri highway speed limit law lay in the balance today as the House and Senate took far different views on what should be in such Basically, the House wants a lower speed limit for driving at night and wants a "prima facie" clause in the bill.

Temperatures are expected to average below seasonal normals over most of the nation until mid-June, except for above normal in the Northwest and extreme Southeast.

From now until mid-June, rainfall is expected to equal or exceed normal over most areas, except for subnormal amounts along the West Coast and in the northern tier of states westward from the Great Lakes.

The weather maps below give the U.S. Weather Bureau's longrange forecast from now until mid-June. It is not a specific forecast in the usual sense, but an ESTIMATE of the average temperatures and precipitation for the period.

Second Round In Monopoly Bout Begins

NEW YORK (A)-The bell rang for round two today in the Government vs. the International Boxing Club monopoly bout.

The IBC already has been found guilty of monopoly practices. The present hearings, which started Monday, are being held before Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan to determine what action to take Gene Tunney who retired as undefeated heavyweight champion was listed as chief witness for the defense. He was expected to testify that the IBC has been conducting boxing and-specificallychampionship fights in the best interests of the sport.

Jim Norris, the IBC chief, took yesterday off from the court hearings to talk over a proposed middleweight championship bout with the titleholder Sugar Ray Robin-

When the confab was over, Norris had Robinson's verbal agreement that he would fight Carmen Basilio for the title under IBC auspices in September.

Meanwhile, Emil Lence, who hopes to promote the next heavyweight title fight, accused contenders Hurricane Jackson and Eddie Machen of being slaves to the IBC.

"They are owned by the monopterson, whose manager, Cus D'Amato, refuses to fight for the

"Jackson's way of saying 'no' to our proposal was to ask for a cent and $25,000 training expenses," Lence continued.

He was an Irish immigrant, friend of the frontier scouts, prominent furtrader, eminent businessman; his wife, Virginia, an accomplished Southern lady. Both were generous, gracious hosts.

Beyond the doors of this 106-year-old period museum, a century drops away. Among the Victorian mirrors and marble, rosewood and red damask, one almost sees President and Mrs. Grant, General Sherman, Father Pierre De Smet, celebrated dinner guests, in the glow of the gaslit chandeliers.

And judging from the kitchen's copper utensils and Virginia Campbell's handwritten recipe book, the dinner will likely be a fine one!

in midweek instead of part of a weekend, the usual highway holiday slaughter may be minimized next week.

Nevertheless the annual warnings are being sounded repetitiously as a prelude to a day when tribute should be paid to those who gave their life in defense of their country, rather than observing it as a day of condemnation of those who gave their lives for an offense against rules of safe driving.

Now that Missouri is to have speed regulations another matter to be considered in the name of safety is some attention to stiffer physical examinations in connection with issuance of drivers' licenses.

New York's motor vehicle bureau is making the first serious effort to learn what link may exist between poor driving and poor vision. If the tests prove satisfactory, they may be used later as a requirement for new and renewing license applicants. In 1956 tests of 20,- rigid standards of vision.

take an optometrist to prove that fact.

The person with poor vision who does nothing to have such a condition corrected is more than a menace to others on the highway, he is a threat to himself just walking about the factory, office or house. Poor eyesight has caused uncountable falls down stairs and stumbles over unseen objects which could have been avoided by a small investment

It is too bad that there should be compulsion to have frequent vision examinations, but if the highways continue to attract more and more traffic, physical examinations for drivers' licenses should

Modern Republicanism Is Now Dead

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON - Most significant fact about the President's battle of the budget is that he is being defeated by the two groups he rescued. Last year when he was pondering whether a heart attack and an ilietis operation should bar him from running two groups were loudest

1. Old guard Republicans who knew they couldn't win without Ike.

in demands that he make the sacrifice. They

2. Big business, which has received more tax concessions, more helpful ruling from regulatory commissions than in any time in twenty years.

Today, however, it's the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers which have kept up a steady drumfire against the budget. They began their campaign early. Not satisfied with record profits, they decided that a further tax cut was more important than schools for their children or the defense of the nation. Bitterly disappointed at the Eisenhower budget, they launched an economy drive the like of which the country hasn't seen since the 1930's.

The disgruntled old guard latched on to this big business support. Ike could have stopped the economy landslide by throwing the full weight of his popularity into the breach when it first started. But he hung back, didn't want to tangle with Congress, ignored the advice of the palace guard that he must have a showdown.

Meanwhile the old guard also urged Ike not to tangle with Congress. The Republican leaders. who come to see the President once a week are old guarders: Senators Knowland of California. Bridges of New Hampshire, with Joe Martin of Massachusetts. Charley Halleck of Indiana. is a middle-of-the-roader. The advice they gave him against a vigorous showdown was to their advantage. He took the advice.

The Old Guard Now Controls

Today, as one result of taking their advice, complete control of the Republican party has gone back to the old guard. Control of the party was something they had had for years, and they wanted it back again. They lost it in 1956. In 1952 they didn't lose it. In that election, modern Republicans had to organize citizens for Eisenhower in order to circumvent the old guard.

But in 1956, modern Republicans assumed control, and on the night he won, November 6, the re-elected President proudly announced his intention to remake the Republican party in his own image.

Today, six months after that astounding victory, the old guard is back in the saddle. Here is what is happening:

1. Ex-speaker Joe Martin has privately predicted "There won't be any modern Republicans running the 1958 election. They won't be able to win in the primaries."

2. Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, an old guarder, has quietly pledged enough senatorial votes to make himself the Senate GOP leader when Bill Knowland goes back to California. This is what Lyndon Johnson did among the Democrats in 1952. The Democrats didn't particularly want Johnson, just as many Republicans don't want Dirksen. However, when put on the spot single, and asked for a vote, its

A day or two ago a New York Transit Authority patrolman stopped a man on a subway platform carrying a fire extinguisher in each hand. Now, fire extinguishers that might pop off in a subway are not conducive to calm and order. So the officer asked where he was going and why. The man's retort was hardly Chesterfieldian, and the officer demanded his name. The man refused and ended up in court charged with disorderly conduct.

He convinced the judge that he was in the fire extinguisher business, and the officer admitted no crime or suspicion of crime was involved. Whereupon the judge dismissed the charge and ruled that a law-abiding citizen's name is his own business.

The officer may be wondering just how his dutiful diligence earned him only a reproof-also he may be shy of fire extinguishers for a while. But he may later realize, we trust, that in this small, irksome incident he helped exemplify the contrast between a free land and a shackled one-that his name's his own affair, too, and not even another policeman's.

Arab Monarchs Huddle - Division in the Arab world is growing. King Faisal of Iraq expressed the view to King Saud of Saudi Arabia, during their huddle in Baghdad, that Egyptian Dictator Nasser must be blocked from taking over the whole Arab world. Faisal is convinced Nasser has become so dependent on Russia that he is little more than a Red puppet. King Saud is determined, however, to avoid an open break with Nasser. He kept reminding his fellow monarch that the Arab world's number one enemy is still Israel.

Ike Frowns On Pork Barrel - Ike told Congressional leaders privately that if they really believe in economy, they will let him veto pet projects in their home states. He wants the right to kill items in the appropriations bill he doesn't like -instead of vetoing the whole bill. The item veto would give Ike the power to turn down local pork barrel projects that now pad the government's spending program - but which also get congressmen re-elected. Speaker Sam Rayburn replied bluntly that Congress has no intention of abdicating its fiscal power. Trouble In Russia - U. S. Diplomats report there's confusion among Soviet bureaucrats over the drastic reorganization of Russian industrial planning and management. Uo to 100,000 Soviet officials are going to be moved to the hinterlands in a desperate effort to get more efficiency. Soviet bureaucrats are openly grumbling. The confusion is sure to hurt industrial production for months to come. Party Chief Khrushchev, however, is cracking the whip and pressing ahead. His prestige is at stake. His head would roll if the plan flops.

Sour Taste In China - Mao Tze-Tung, the boss of Communist China, has made two secret speeches denouncing bureaucratic bungling inside Red China. Alarmed at the mounting criticism of Communism throughout China. Mao with usual Communist logic, blames the unrest not on the defects of Communism but on subordinates who aren't doing their jobs.

Air Traffic Jams - Commercial airlines have reported so many near collisions with military planes that CAA Administrator Jack Pyle has called on the Air Force to do something about it. Pyle wants civilian jurisdiction over all air traffic - including the military. But the Air Force claims it must have complete freedom of navigation to guard the country against air attack. Over 500 near collisions were reported last year and hundreds more went unreported.

Some Grim Facts

Americans can take no comfort at all from the FBI's latest report on major crimes in this country. They were up 13.3 per cent in 1956 over 1955, and altogether have soared four times as fast as the population since 1950.

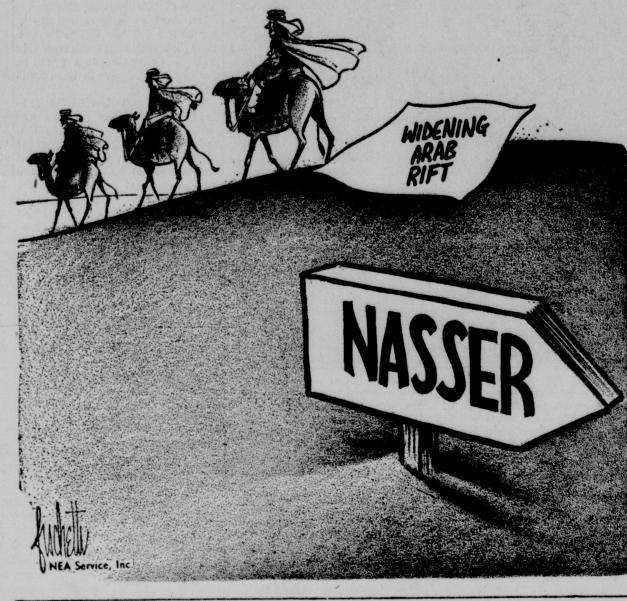

There always seem to be those who stoutly resist the idea that crime in America is truly on the increase. They like to suggest that the nation's huge population boost accounts for every thing. The facts indicate otherwise.

The 2,500,000 major crimes committed last year are the positive proof that a bigger and bigger share of our people are indulging in wrong-doing. The unhappiest part of the story. of course, is that youths under 18 played a very heavy role in the total picture.

In 1956 the number of persons in this age category rose only 3 per cent in cities, yet arrests in this group rose 17.3 per cent. Nearly 46 per cent of arrests fo major cimes in cities wee of youngsters under 18.

Speedup of the campaigns against malaria is highly important. The disease is transmitted by a particular variety of mosquito known as Anopheles. These insects are alerady beginning to develop resistance against the new insecticides, such as DDT. Therefore, the mosquitoes must be hit a massive blow before too many of them become impervious to this chemical attack.

For example, in 1946 malaria menaced 135 million people in North and South America. Today, 105 million of these are protected by the virtual elimination of the John E. #### Lack of Proof In Scandal Trial

VENICE (A) - The prosecution today absolved the three principal defendants in Italy's notorious Wilma Montesi scandal

Prosecutor Cesare Palminteri asked a three-judge court to return verdicts of innocence for Gianpiero Piccioni, jazz pianist son of a former foreign minister; Rome man-about-town Ugo Montaga and former Rome Police Chief Saverio Polito.

Palminteri said the three months of often uproarious, mudslinging testimony had brought out "absolutely no proof" against the trio. His statement virtually collapsed the case which had splashedt hrough three years of splashed through three years of threatened Italy's ruling Christian Democratic party.

Palminteri made his recommendation at the end of his final argument. Piccioni and Montagna enthusiastically shook his hand. Polito, 76, sobbed with relief.

The body of the 20-year-old Montesi girl was found on a tide-swept beach near Rome in April 1953. The case burgeoned into a national scandal after a Rome newspaper charged that she died at a high society drug and sex orgy at Montagna's hunting lodge near

Indeed, it is the motive of this column to have you question everything it says. The idea is not to swallow any of the ideas it advances without first thinking, "Is what she says true and nourishing for me - or isn't it?"

I've never taken or given a psychological test. Behind me is no school of psychiatry, no therapist experience in mental hygiene clinics to comfort you with the assurance that what I say is safe to trust. Upon this column is no seal of endorsement by any authority that can spare you the obligation of judging it for yourself.
